

Bedlam Breaks Loose as Smith Admirers Control Convention With Noisy Parades

All-Day Session Crammed With Acrimony and Clatter—Din Continues for Hour and Half—New and Unexpected Demonstration for McAdoo Bursts Forth As Session Opens—Rumpus Ends in First Roll Call.

10 Candidates Nominated

Five Others, at Least, to Be Named—Roosevelt Carried to Platform to Make Speech Placing Name of New York Governor Formally Before Delegates.

New York, June 26.—Through an all-day session crammed with acrimony and clatter, the Democratic national convention went its uneven way toward the hour of paramount decisions.

When it adjourned, 10 candidates had been placed in nomination for the presidency; the much advertised major demonstrations for McAdoo and Smith had passed into history; the disagreements of rival groups had met in their first roll call on a question of procedure, and the party platform was beginning to take shape after 48 hours of heated discussion in committee.

Five more presidential aspirants at least, remain to be formally presented to the convention tomorrow while the platform makers are completing their work, but party officials expect the platform to be adopted and the way cleared for balloting on a nominee before tomorrow night's final adjournment.

In the seven hours of today's session, there were no dull moments. Starting with a new and unexpected demonstration for McAdoo, and rising to a climax in a noisy hour and a half of rooting for Smith, the convention produced a new touch of the dramatic at the very end in a fight over adjournment in which the McAdoo managers sought unsuccessfully to force a night session.

McAdoo Enthusiasts Agitated Active.

The adjournment proposal led to the first roll call vote of the convention and was hailed by some of the delegates as a test of strength between the McAdoo forces and their combined opposition. Others declared the showdown was not clear cut because many delegates were too tired to want a night session while others had left the hall and lost their votes. Whatever the cause, the managers of the McAdoo campaign lost their fight 553 to 513%.

The McAdoo demonstration, with which the proceedings began, was evoked by a seconding speech for the former secretary by Governor Sweet of Colorado, who had been promised his state's support for his nomination at the start if he wanted it. Again, as at yesterday's session, when McAdoo's name was presented, there was a parade of McAdoo delegates about the convention arena to the accompaniment of a continuous rumble of cheering.

Then followed a demonstration for Smith, carefully planned to outdo all the demonstration for his principal rival, Franklin D. Roosevelt, the party's vice-residential nominee of four years ago, and now crippled by infantile paralysis and unable to walk, was carried up to the platform to make the nominating speech. Wholly aside from the thunderous manifestation of support given later to the man he placed in nomination, Mr. Roosevelt was accorded a reception by the whole convention that conveyed a pathetic tribute to his past services to the Democracy, and his gameness in the fight for Smith.

Pay Close Attention to Roosevelt.

It was noticeable that the convention paid close attention to Mr. Roosevelt than it had to any of those who preceded him, with nominating speeches and that, he had his audience under control. But it was noticeable also that the managers of the demonstration which was to follow for Smith had won out over the McAdoo managers the day before and that they had not failed to equip their professional demonstrators with all the noisemaking and enthusiasm raising devices at their command.

Even before the session began, long lines of Smith adherents began appearing in the top stories and by the time the convention was called to order they were packed in like sardines. Very soon, large bodies of men and boys and some women wearing Smith banners in blocks of 200 and 200 rushed the doorkeepers and police and in they came equipped with flags and other equipment for the demonstration.

They filled the seats of delegates and alaternated and overflowed into the sections of reserved seats and occupied them, and finally they packed the aisles, standing five and six abreast. The police and fire authorities closed the doors of the convention hall on the ground that there was no more room inside and left the building in the streets outside. Hundreds of auto drivers of legitimate ticket holders.

When Mr. Roosevelt's peroration ended the end of his nominating speech the racket red noise, a volume of noise produced it exceeded the McAdoo demonstration of yesterday, but it was all the same accompaniment to professional demonstrators with all the noisemaking and enthusiasm raising devices at their command.

They filled the seats of delegates and alaternated and overflowed into the sections of reserved seats and occupied them, and finally they packed the aisles, standing five and six abreast. The police and fire authorities closed the doors of the convention hall on the ground that there was no more room inside and left the building in the streets outside. Hundreds of auto drivers of legitimate ticket holders.

DELEGATES, PLEASED AT FIRST, GROW RESTLESS

New York, June 26.—Friends of Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York turned the Democratic national convention today into a shrieking pandemonium of sound, terrifying the delegates, terrible din; exhaustingly tiresome.

The vote on the adjournment quickly followed.

When they reassemble tomorrow morning the delegates still will be faced with enough nominating speeches to keep them all day, and should the platform committee be forced to report there may be a night session. If the platform is taken up for immediate consideration that plan of procedure would throw the beginning of the balloting for president over until Saturday.

No Sign of Let Up.

Roosevelt still clings to his grip on the speaker's desk, gazing down at the tumult he had let loose. Beside him there came a youngster in colonial costume to be lifted to the rail while he waved the rioting masses in the aisle below, another delegate shouting the name of Alfred Smith into the convention and not back such an answer that the solid, dingy old walls of Madison Square Garden bulged with the strain.

In one huge burst, galleries, Smith delegators, and Smith cohorts crowding the aisles, let go. From either end of the far galleries the rising, ear-splitting shriek of fire sirens wailed high above the tumult, never to cease until more than an hour had passed.

Ready to Quit.

"If this convention cannot proceed with this business in this city," he shouted sternly down at the swarm below him. "The chair will entertain a motion to take it somewhere else."

It had effect, for he plainly meant it.

The Smith cohorts strode vigorously to silence the last of the din and so the great day for which New Yorkers plainly had been waiting and preparing finally came when they knew the convention would come to the madcap climax passed into history.

There was more nominating afterward, then came the first clash of votes on whether the convention would reconvene to come back later at night to finish with its nominating orator, or walk over until tomorrow. Small forces were for tomorrow. McAdoo leaders for tonight and those who voted for a vote. The Smith group, aided by the noise-work, weary falls with votes who are not now, at any rate, in either camp, was victorious.

The convention gave a great sigh of relief as it broke up, for regardless of political strategy, they were weary with the din and tumult and confusion here assembled, over it to the nation to choose a candidate whose name spoke victory.

From that point the roll call of names continued and when the convention delegates sat or stood right out to a cheer and after awhile (see through which it had passed).

their places, pleased with the vigor and antics of the demonstrators at first, but growing a little restless toward the end; a little anxious to get on with the business that brought them to New York.

Roosevelt's Speech Releases Tumult.

It was the word of Franklin D. Roosevelt, naming the governor as New York's choice for the presidential nomination, that set the mad tumult going. Long before he reached his climax, however, it was plain evident that the stage had been set for such an outbreak as has rarely been known anywhere.

For the first time, high ranging galleries of that dingy old hall were jammed to suffocation. They were there waiting, these thronging thousands of New York folks, armed with contrivances to aid in the salute to their favorite son. Only the constant, urging signals of the Smith captains and hurried trips of message runners kept the gallery guards in check until the final moment.

The fall of the cards gave the McAdoo hosts on the floor first chance again today, after their orgy of yesterday when the Californian was nominated. A seconding speech from Colorado brought them up with leftover enthusiasm before Connecticut yielded place to New York that the governor might be named.

McAdoo Outburst Dies Away.

The McAdoo outburst died away presently, and the first forecast of what was to come broke with the announcement from the Connecticut delegation that gave place to New York. A huge uproar arose and swelled in the hall.

On the platform, blazing under the white glare of the spotlights, a tall, blue clad figure worked its way painfully forward on crutches to the speaker's stand. It was Roosevelt, but not the same Roosevelt so many of those thronging delegates must have recalled with the memories of the vivid scenes in San Francisco four years ago.

Then he was on the floor in New York's half-split delegation.

Then, as now, he worked for "Al" Smith. But then he led in person on the floor the impromptu demonstration the New York governor's name evoked.

Then, too, it was Roosevelt, big, sturdy and destined to be his party's choice as vice presidential standard bearer, who hurled aside opposing delegates to tip the New York standard from its place and bear it triumphantly into the tumult of greeting set by the San Francisco convention.

AS BIG LEAGUERS PLAY IT

FIELDING GROUNDERS

How can a player learn to judge grounders and then "mag" them?

Answered by

JOE SEWELL

Shortstop, Cleveland Indians. The hardest hitting shortstop in either league. Batted .333 last year.

In playing a ground ball it is very easy to misjudge the speed and the hop. To play a ground ball start toward it slowly, move a step or two until you see where the ball is going to hop, then play the ball on the "big-bound," as it comes off the ground. Fielding a ball on the "half-bound" is much more difficult than playing on the "short-hop" or the "big-hop." Never let the ball stop you. Moving it to the ball, just a step or two avoids this. Always field a ball in front of you—never off to the side, and keep in a position to throw the man out.

SCANLON SCORES SHUTOUT

Holds Watervliet Grogans to Four Hits in First Game He Has Participated in Since He Split His Hand Some Time Ago—Benson Holds Oneonta to Comparatively Few Hits, But Walks Many—Kingston Today.

With Joe Scanlon back in the box for the first time since he split his hand some time ago, the Oneonta Giants took the Grogans in hand yesterday afternoon and defeated that organization from Watervliet, 5 to 0. This team is said to have lost but one game previous to yesterday's shutout this year. But two of the opposition hit the Oneonta hurler safely, and each got two hits, one a double. The only time that they looked dangerous was in the second wife they got three men on with two down. In this frame Scanlon walked two men, his only passes of the controversy.

When the sixth had passed into history the Oneonta team had made four hits and the visitors three, but the Giants aped the hit column's appearance for Benson by idling three to the list in the seventh. Benson hampered his own box work by the numerous passes he furnished, the home club's initial run being the result of a free hit; when the sacks were loaded to capacity.

It was in the third that the home club pushed over its first run. Slatnick was the batter when the frame opened and he drew a pass, going to second when Scanlon beat out to first, taking third when the first sacker, in a futile attempt to catch Fife, heaved the sphere poorly to first. Wilson was granted a trip via the four ball route and Fife heard Umpire Griffith say "Ball four, take your base," thus completing the manufacture of the first run. Fife hit a fly to center, Scanlon scoring. Eckstein and Harner also went out on the aerial route.

Two more frames passed scoreless and then the Giants got another as a gift. Wilson was passed and sacrificed to second when Thomas bunted to third for an out. When the first baseman received the ball he per-

Ernie Brandsten, now in Europe as coach of the United States Olympic diving team, is at last reaping the rewards of years of patience, study and hard work. In 1916 Ernie was national diving champion of Sweden. In 1918 he took up the job of swimming coach at the University of California, where he developed the great Judy Langer. In 1915 he assumed the coaching job at Stanford university, where, within the last nine years he has developed some of the greatest swimmers and divers in the world. Brandsten started Norman Ross on his long career of breaking records, but is in developing divers that he has shown his greatest ability.

The two American Olympic aces in the diving competition at Paris next month are Al White and Clarence Pinkston—both of them pupils of Brandsten's at Stanford university. Both boys have held national indoor and outdoor springboard championships. Each has defeated the other in competition, and each is a splendid tribute to the coaching of Ernie Brandsten.

Clarence Pinkston won the high diving championship of the world at the 1920 Olympic games and his work is a wonderful example of grace and rhythm. Al White, who never took up diving until he came to Stanford in 1921, has been the National Indoor Springboard champion for the last three years and was Outdoor champion in 1922.

MARYLAND COMMENCEMENT

Graduation Exercises of High School Held in Lutheran Church Monday—Other Maryland Events.

Maryland, June 26.—The annual commencement exercises of the High school were held in the Lutheran church Monday evening at 8 o'clock. A very pleasing entertainment was given by the children. The play, "Death Fashion," by the junior grades, was especially fine and showed the time spent by both scholars and teachers. The High school play "Gratitum" was a pleasing number of the program.

The Misses Gill, Rowland, Bitton and Scanlan added much to the program with their songs. The "Labor Convention" and "Rheumatic" by intermediate pupils were well received.

Prof. R. D. Bay made brief but well chosen remarks and presented the prizes and gave the promotion certificates.

The High school teachers returned to their homes on Tuesday as follows: Miss Isa Baldwin to East Worcester; Mrs. Mable Green to Elk Creek; Miss Lois Duffy to Syracuse and Mrs. Grace Fancher to Goodyear Lake. Prof. R. D. Bay will remain in Maryland for the summer.

The faculty for next year are as follows: Mrs. Robinson, first and second grades; Miss Blino, third and fourth; Mrs. Grace Fancher, fifth and sixth; Miss Isa Baldwin, seventh and eighth; Miss Grace Weaver, domestic science; and Prof. R. D. Bay remains as principal and teacher.

Personal.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ray and daughter of Herkimer called on William Clark and Mr. and Mrs. B. F. VanZandt last Sunday. — Mrs. L. Howe of Syracuse spent a few days recently with her sister, Mrs. B. F. VanZandt. — Mrs. Lena Patterson of Albany spent last week with her sister, Mrs. E. Tice. — Mrs. A. Pixley of Unadilla spent Wednesday with Mrs. B. F. VanZandt. — Miss Mildred Cook, who underwent an operation at the Fox hospital for appendicitis a few weeks ago, is improving very nicely and is planning to return home in a few days. — Miss Francis Odell, who day, but because the rain had a party and supper at Mrs. Cora Foster's and attended the movies together afterward.

Unadilla County.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Hebbard of Davenport Center and Mrs. Libbie Bennett of Port Dickinson were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ruth Bennett. — Miss Olive Brion of Detroit, Mich., is a very welcome visitor of her brother's family. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brion. — Mrs. George Collier of Middleburg is spending commencement week with her daughter, Miss Susan Collier, of the High school faculty. — Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Y. Nixon of Syracuse were over-Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Brown. Their mother, Mrs. Lucy Nixon, returned home while them for a few weeks visit.

THE STORM IN UNADILLA.

Interferes to Some Extent with Attendance at Junior Prom.

Unadilla, June 26.—The severe shower of Tuesday evening interfered to a certain extent with the attendance at the Junior prom. But there were enough present to make it a very enjoyable event until 2 o'clock. The hall was decorated in blue and white, the school colors. The orchestra was in part home musicians, assisted by some from out of town. Punch and wafers were served by the Juniors.

Leaving for Adirondacks.

Howard Pecor, Henry Preston, Monte Cone, Jr., of Unadilla, and Albert Van of Deposit have all plans made to start for a two-months' stay at Camp Puk-o-Moonshine in the Adirondacks, leaving July 1. It is a beautiful and convenient place on Long Pond or Echo lake, of which Charles A. Robinson, Ph. D., principal of Peekskill military academy is the director and owner. The combination of physical instruction, recreation, study and enjoyments of camp life will be very beneficial to these young men and we hope the pleasure will be as great as the benefit.

Teachers Entertained.

Miss Marsh and Miss Long, former Unadilla High school teachers, are being entertained at her home by Mrs. Cecil Stearns for a few days. Miss Marsh is now teaching at Cleveland Heights, Cleveland, Ohio. Miss Long is teaching in Schenectady. Members of the faculty and some of their more intimate friends planned a picnic for their entertainment Wednesday.

The salutatory address was given by Miss Gertrude Moak, and the valedictory by Ford Estey, Rev. G. E. Bowler, pastor of the Baptist church, delivered the address of the evening. Several solos were rendered by Edward C. Risley, and music provided by an orchestra.

A silver loving cup, the gift of the faculty of the school, was won by Miss Frances Palmer of the graduating class for the best scholarship, general standing and athletics.

The $5.00 spelling prize, donated by Mrs. George Milton Augur, was won by Rachael Shaw. The baccalaureate sermon, "The Road to Success," was delivered Sunday evening at the Methodist Episcopal church by the Rev. A. H. Landmesser. The church was prettily decorated for the occasion and some music was rendered by the choir.

SCHENEVUS GRADUATION

Forty-Second Annual Commencement, Combined with Class Day Exercises, Held Wednesday Evening.

Schenectady, June 26.—The forty-second annual commencement exercises of the Schenectady High school were held Wednesday evening in Tillipaugh & Bunker hall with a large gathering of relatives and friends of the graduates in attendance. The class colors, orange and black, were used effectively in the stage decorations and the class flower, the "black-eyed Susan," was supplemented by the daisy in the decorative scheme, with a profusion of ferns used as well. The four members of the graduating class, with the president of the Board of Education, the principal of the school and the speaker of the evening were seated upon the stage.

The school orchestra and Glee club, the several instrumental and vocal numbers. Rev. L. A. Duran gave the invocation and was followed by Miss Helen Friery delivering the salutatory "Welcome" and address to the Juniors to which response was made by Miss Katherine Boorn, president of the Juniors.

Miss Arms Lippincott, as testatrix of the class of 1924 gave the class will, affording considerable amusement to those on the "inside." Miss Beatrice Campbell as prophetess held the attention of her hearers in prophesying the future of her associates. The graduating exercises were a combination of both class day and graduation ceremonies. Father Edw. T. Reilly of Worcester delivered the address to the graduating class, bringing forcibly to the attention of his audience that after all history, mathematics and the languages are but secondary in one's education and future life. That after all education was the foundation and stepping stone of "How to live properly and think right." Three ideas he sought to instill in the minds of the graduates.

1st. That there is a Supreme Being 2nd. That we are rational beings.

3rd. Stop to think. The address contained many helpful suggestions not alone for the graduates but all present. "To live for the betterment of the human race and that eventually right does prevail were two of the high lights expounded.

Miss Maxine Judkins, valedictorian, followed with an essay "Schenectady," followed by a farewell to dear old Schenectady High.

The president of the Board of Education presented the diplomas to the four graduates, the Misses Maxine Judkins, Helen Friery, Arms Lippincott and Beatrice Campbell.

Prizes and awards were also made by Mr. Tillipaugh as follows: Scholarship prize—To the student who obtains the highest average in at least four subjects tried in Regents examinations during the year, a gold medal is awarded, presented by Herbert Bernard, who established the prize about twenty-five years ago. The winner was Miss Maxine Judkins with an average of 85 1/2 per cent with Katherine Boorn and Elizabeth Nesbit receiving honorable mention 82 and 81 per cent respectively.

The Alumni-Lowell prize for mathematics—To the member of the Senior class, who has taken the required High school course in the S. H. S., whose average is the highest in Regents examinations in algebra, geometry, and any other mathematical subject, a prize of five dollars in gold is awarded, presented by the Alumni Association. Miss Maxine Judkins with an average of 89.2 per cent was the winner. Miss Arms Lippincott having averaged 81.3 per cent.

The English prize presented by the principal of the school to the student maintaining the highest scholarship in High School English during the year, consisting of money to the value of five dollars was awarded Miss Katherine Boorn, first, with an average of 81 per cent, closely followed by Miss Maxine Judkins, second, with 80.4 per cent, just 6.16 per cent below the successful student.

Congratulations were extended to the graduates at the close of the exercises and the class of 1924 goes down in history as having exemplified their class motto, "Success Comes in Threes."

ANOTHER LAURENS DEATH.

Laurens, June 26.—Death has again come to our community, this time removing LeGrand D. Dunbar, whose death occurred on Wednesday at 11:30 p. m. at the home of his parents here in the village with whom he lived, after an illness of only about one week. Although he had been in failing health for the past year, his death came as quite a shock to all. The funeral, which will be private, will be held on Friday at 2 p. m. at his late home. Rev. J. C. Rankin, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will officiate and burial will be in the Laurens cemetery. Friends wishing to pay respects may call at the home Friday between 3 and 5 p. m.

Mr. Dunbar was born in Laurens on September 25, 1876, the son of Samuel V. and Hattie (Hall) Dunbar. He had always lived in Laurens, where he was well liked by all. He was a devoted son, a kind neighbor and friend.

Surviving him are the parents, Mr. and CONCERNING HOLIDAYS.

With the exception of five days, there will be holidays somewhere in the civilized world on every other day of the month of July—a total of 26 altogether.

To ourselves the important July date and the only day save two which in any state of the union is not celebrated is July 4, day of the National Declaration of Independence.

We are, however, not the only people who observe that date. China (Canton) observes it and so do the Dominican Republic, Guatemala, Nicaragua, Panama, Uruguay and Peru. In every one of them it is the anniversary of independence. The other July holidays referred to are on July 24, which is Pioneer Day in Utah, and July 13, which is observed in Tennessee as the birthday of General Bedford Forrest, a distinguished Confederate soldier, whom his native state honors.

It is notable that most of these anniversaries are national and patriotic rather than religious or social in their character. On July 1 the Belgian Congo celebrates Independence day, and the Yukon territory Dominion day, and all through the list such designations as Fete National, which is really Bastille day, Constitution day, Occupation day, birthdays of distinguished patriots, as in February America remembers the birthday of Lincoln and that of Washington, can be found. Altogether, from a glance over the list it appears that July has been a favorite time for revolutions, and for the turning down of crowned heads.

REPARATIONS.

England wants France to settle her accounts with Germany and to agree upon some basis of reparations to be made. France is perfectly willing provided Great Britain will guarantee the payment of the debt. England is not willing to accept, and Germany is much surprised, along with England, because she will not.

And yet the matter is not in any way remarkable. England wants France to agree to some basis of settlement which would permit Germany to resume the ante bellum status quo. This done, the trade of Great Britain with the Huns would be resumed, greatly to the benefit of London and Threadneedle street. Surely England would like to have France settle with Germany.

But on the other hand, France, for lack of substantial payments on the stipulated reparations, has most of her own territory in her hands. Why should she give it up, she asks, without some substantial guarantee from another nation than Germany? The word of the latter country is worth nothing, and if France is to give up her grip on German iron and coal, there must be some substantial guarantee from a country whose written word is not a mere slip of paper.

THE AMERICAN BREAKFAST.

The dietary reformation of England is indicated in a recent announcement from London to the effect that the heavy English breakfast is being abandoned in favor of one which consists mainly of rolls, fruit and coffee, which the British authority for the dispatch calls the American breakfast. Well, it possibly is in the case of certain idle folk who wake at nine, drink coffee and consume an orange in bed, perhaps go to sleep again and in any event do not get on the job, such as it is before middle afternoon. The American who has manual labor to perform, or clerical, or any other which calls for much dynamic force knows better than to stoke the physical machine with fruit, coffee, and a light roll. He wants something more filling, and usually gets it in trout, cereals, eggs and bacon, with possible griddle cakes, if not toast. Altogether what the Englishman calls an American breakfast sounds much more like a breakfast in France, as such breakfasts are commonly described.

A SERIOUS CRIME.

The recent arrest of one man in the vicinity of Lake George, who is charged with starting no less than thirteen forest fires calls attention to one of the most serious of crimes. There was a time when it would not have been much considered, but now, when the swift destruction of wooded areas for the purpose of lumbering has become a serious proposition, the wanton and premeditated burning of wooded areas ranks in the public mind along with other forms of arson.

Forest fires cause an enormous annual loss in this country. Long ago it was realized that many of them were preventable, and it was felt that a considerable number had origin in vicious or felonious intent. A few prosecutions like that at Lake George should serve as a warning that punishment in this, as in other matters, follows closely on the heels of wrong doing.

New Auto Law Effective October 1.

The following statement relative to the new motor vehicle law of New York State, applying to passenger cars, was issued Wednesday by Secretary Harry Ward of the Oneonta Automobile Club:

"Otsego county motorists need not worry about having to obtain and carry their operator's license for many months to come, as the law provides that a person shall not be required to have an operator's license under the section before October 1, 1924."

And it is considered that the extension of time allowed under the law, 90 days, will be sufficient.

Gardens to Plant This Afternoon.

The Oneonta will hold a picnic at Union park this afternoon and evening. Other activities, a concert, etc., will also take place.

EPWORTH LEAGUE INSTITUTE

Program Completed for Annual Gathering Aug. 11 to 16—Spectacular Features Attractive.

That young people of the Methodist Episcopal church are aligning themselves for a Christian citizenship offensive on behalf of world peace and law enforcement is discernible from a glance over the program for the coming 10th annual Institute of the Epworth League of the Wyoming conference, meeting Aug. 11-16, in Endicott, at Sidney Grove, as prepared at a recent meeting of the committee of the league, held at the Central Y. M. C. A., with the dean of the institute, the Rev. George H. Savage of First church, Endicott, presiding. Prominent church leaders of the east are here to share in the funnies of 20 members that will have charge of the study classes each morning, the recreational events each afternoon and the inspirational gatherings at night. More than 600 are expected—including many from this community. The buildings and grounds are being improved, repaired and prepared for the occasion.

The institute will be held after the annual summer school of the New York State Sunday School Association, which takes place at the Grove July 24-August 8. During that time the building will be filled with friends and visitors and many of these, who are forming the habit of spending the hot summer months on the grounds, may stay over to attend the league institute.

The next meeting of the committee will be held while the Epworth League Institute is in session. Each morning will be given over to the many classes that will be conducted by the faculty on things essential to the life of a leaguer, and essential to training in church leadership. The afternoon will be given over to outdoor recreation. And there will be unusual and exceptional things on the program for the afternoon and inspirational gatherings at night. A baseball tournament will be played through the week, and on Saturday the whole institute will accompany their team to Sidney, where they will play the Sidney town team.

In addition to the lectures to be given at night, plans are under way for an unusual pageant to be staged by the Oneonta district leaguers. During the last three years each district in the conference has staged a pageant—and now it is up to the Oneontans to furnish their own attraction of this kind. This work is going forward and it is expected that the coming event will be remarkable in acting, costume and music, and other stage appointments. A large musical program is planned for Friday night under the direction of Dr. Hill of Corning.

The program of study will be in accord with that followed by the nation-wide league, and this lays stress on the value of Christian citizenship and Americanism as a means of securing better law enforcement and world peace. The Sidney Grove program stresses Christian citizenship as a means of preparing the young folks for meeting the demands of public welfare and American politics.

KINGSTON HERE TODAY

Fast Colonials to Meet Thomas Giants in What Is Expected to Be One of Best Games of Season.

The Kingston Colonials, one of the best semi-professional baseball teams in New York state, will oppose the Oneonta Giants at Nehawka park at 4:15 o'clock this afternoon in a contest which has been eagerly anticipated by all local fans. The teams are evenly matched and a thrilling battle should result.

The Giants broke even in the two games played at Kingston some days ago and are figuring on winning the rubber match today. The team is hitting and fielding well and with good pitching Roy's boys should turn the trick.

The Colonials are a very fast outfit, however, and have a few hitting tricks of their own which may cause the Oneonta twirlers considerable trouble. Kingston has won games from many first class teams this season and is held in high regard throughout the state.

Although Manager Thomas has not announced his pitching selection it is probable that either Walsh or Davis will take the mound.

LIABLE TO A FINE.

Are All Persons Who Explode Firecrackers and the Like.

Each season as the Glorious Fourth approaches a considerable number of people think it necessary in order to evidence patriotic impulses to commence to explode firecrackers and fireworks about the city streets. No one would suppress a reasonable amount of such jollity at the proper time, but there is no reason why the din should commence a week or more before the Fourth and last a week after.

As the authorities have requested The Star very willingly calls the attention of the public to the fact that there is a city ordinance which says that "No person shall fire, aid or assist in firing any gun, pistol, squirrel, rocket, firecracker, gunpowder fireworks or explosive combustible, in the streets, public squares or within 20 rods of any dwelling house or store within the city of Oneonta." The penalty is a fine not exceeding $15.

While there is no inclination to enforce the ordinance on the Fourth violators prior to the holiday or the evening previous will be prosecuted. This warning is given as already crackers have made their appearance and in some instances have been exploded.

HOMES FOR SIXTY-TWO

With reports in from less than half the teams and 62 children already accounted for, Hon. C. C. Miller, chairman of the Rotary Fresh Air campaign, is feeling pretty happy these days. The quota set by the committee is 150 kiddies and unless all indications fall many more than that number will be given a real vacation this summer.

Fresh air children will be found to be just children. Like other children they will have their attractive and unattractive sides. But most of them will prove to be lovable lads and lasses able to win the hearts in their hosts. More women weep at parting with their guests than rejoice at getting rid of them when the vacation is over. And scarcely a child who fails to win affection will fail to move his host to pity if the host will strive to learn real facts of the youngster's life.

The boys and girls may disclose shortcomings in certain respects, as, for instance, in what we call "manners," or in their habits of speech or in expressing appreciation for what is done for them. But any who will honestly try to put himself in the place of the children, and to understand the entire lack of opportunity amid which they are born and reared, will marvel at their shortcomings, but at the fact that those shortcomings are so few and, in most cases, so unimportant.

Since the last report was published the following good people have signified their willingness to entertain one or more children for the two-week period: Mrs. Myron Marks, East Meredith, one; A. Springsteen, Laurens road, one; Mrs. John Burghardt, Morris road, two; John Cornell, Morris road, two; Irving Barber, Westford, two; John Frierly, Schenectady, two; S. B. Stillman, Schenectady, one; Mrs. Claude Bartlett, Franklin, two; C. S. Morris, Portlandville, one; Albert Young, Portlandville, one; Hans J. Madsen, Milford, one; R. D. Bird, Milford Center, one; S. Petersen, Milford Center, one; Mrs. B. Sherman, Milford Center, two; Edward Waugh, Milford Center, two; E. H. Blas, Milford Center, two; W. L. Richardson, Milford Center, one; Harry Dunbar, Laurens, one; Samuel L. Eldred, Laurens, one; G. Rogers, West Laurens, one.

Those not seen who wish to take children should communicate with Mr. Miller or with Rev. L. Curtis Denney.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE

Arthur Pratt of Schenectady Practically Uninjured When Car Plunges 15 Feet to Creek Bank and Overtures in Ten Feet of Water.

To plunge in an automobile 15 feet off a bridge into ten feet of water and to escape with no more serious injuries than slight cuts caused when his straw hat was jammed down over his face was the experience late Wednesday evening of Arthur Pratt of Schenectady. To add a further fictional touch to the story it might be said that when the car was dragged from the water, after having been wholly submerged for several hours the lights were still burning and the started mechanism was in working order.

Pratt, whose home is in Schenectady but who is employed in Schenectady, was returning from the Pearshall farm, on a side road a short distance above Coopersport Junction, at about 11 o'clock. As he was crossing the bridge on the J. B. Barnes farm he lost control of his car, a Ford runabout. The machine crashed through the bridge rail, plunged 15 feet to the bank of the creek, landed head down and turned over into the creek, 10 feet deep at the point. Luckily it was right side up when it hit bottom. Pratt, as self possessed as if he was not several feet under water, tore a hole in the top of the car and clambered through it to safety.

The car was pulled out of the creek at about 7 o'clock the next morning with the assistance of Mr. Pearshall's team. The windshield was found to be broken, the top torn, and the radiator and one fender somewhat jammed. The lights were still burning and when Mr. Pratt stepped on the starter the mechanism responded and turned the engine over.

APPEAL FOR NEAR EAST

The Near East Relief New York State committee, says Miss Dorothy Meadows, in making the Oneonta committee to raise $2,000 for the support of 60 children at $30 a year, last year Oneonta contributed over $2,000, and this year the committee is asked to care for at least as many of the orphan children in the Near East as were cared for last year. These orphan children are alive and well today because money was sent over last year and for preceding years. They are definitely our wards and in our care.

The Near East Relief was organized to care for these children until a responsible government was set up. Unfortunately the "setting up" of that responsible government has been delayed, and we have had to continue our care for these children long beyond the period of enthusiasm and spontaneous giving. But surely we are capable of quiet, steady well-doing.

This is a very critical time in the most critical year the Near East Relief has had. The Smyrna disaster placed enormous demands on the Near East Relief. The Lausanne conference of 1923, which ruled that all Christians should leave their homes in Turkey, making it necessary to move thousands of our children from their orphanages, finding new homes for them, and caring for the new orphans made by the exodus of one million and a quarter Christians suddenly homeless, placed even heavier demands on the resources of the Near East Relief.

Today the executive committee in New York city awaits word as to how many children must be turned adrift this summer for lack of 17c a day, or $5 a week, or $60 a year to care for them. These children have been saved and restored to health, but they will suffer all the diseases that follow in the train of exposure and starvation, revert to the pitiable condition from which they were rescued, if the work is abandoned or curtailed.

It is true that the Near East Relief has in its care fewer children than were in the orphanages last year. Some have grown old enough to join the community life of the country in which they were, or have been taken to other countries. Canada has 500 of these orphan boys on her farms. It is also true that those who feel they can give to this work, money or time, or both, are not so many as they were last year. For one reason or another, some of them very good organizations and individuals who contributed money or gave abundantly of their time and services last year do not feel that they can this year. Therefore the committee asks that those who perhaps did not give last year, it is hoped will make a contribution this year.

Workers are needed. The chairman must send word by July 1 to the National Committee of Near East Relief just how many children Oneonta will care for. All over the country other chairmen will be sending in their reports. It was in the determination to prevent the casting adrift of one of these salvaged children, to prevent the closing of one of these orphanages that Lady Anna Aspasia has gone from coast to coast making her impassioned appeals. Is it vain? Will not Oneonta assure the chairman that the children entrusted to Oneonta will be cared for?

GOOD NEWS FROM THE QUALITY.

Management of Silk Mill Announces New Department and Larger Force.

The management of the Quality silk mill in this city, which this evening will close for the annual vacation, reopening on July 14, in all departments, announces that with the beginning of the new season a new department will be added and employment provided for many more employees. This new work will be the making of silk gloves, which heretofore has not been a feature of the company business.

This new departure on the part of the company will call for workers experienced in all operations connected with the making of silk gloves, which are a difficult article to make, but which the management does not doubt can be satisfactorily and profitably manufactured by them here. It is understood that from 50 to 60 additional workers will be employed.

This announcement by the management of the Quality mill will be gratifying to many who were formerly with the Kayser company in this city, some of whom have been out of employment since that factory closed its doors.

A PRETTY HOME WEDDING

Miss Lena M. Carrington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Carrington, bride of Clinton M. Rose of Pine Hill.

A very pretty home wedding was celebrated yesterday at high noon when Miss Lena Mae Carrington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Carrington, and Clinton More Rose, son of Elbert Rose, of Pine Hill, now employed in Oneonta, were united at the home of the bride's parents, 28 Watkins avenue, by Dr. J. W. Flynn of the First Methodist Episcopal church in the presence of forty intimate friends of the families.

On their wedding trip, which will include visits to the Thousand Islands and to points in Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Rose will be accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. George Kenney, who were united in marriage Wednesday at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Hansen, at North Franklin.

After July 15 Mr. and Mrs. Rose will be at home at 21 Watkins avenue. The house was decorated for the occasion in yellow and white, and the full Methodist ring service was performed before a bank of ferns and under an arch of fern and flowers.

The wedding march from "Lohengrin," by Wagner, was played by Miss Evelyn Webster. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white cotton, a tulip veil being fastened with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses and sweet peas.

The bride's maid was Miss Florence Rose, whose dress was of coral georgette and who carried a bouquet of undyed sweet peas. The best man was John T. Lawlor. Following the ceremony a four-course wedding breakfast was served with Mrs. Rose Blizzard as caterer. Miss Marjorie Dunn, Mrs. Ray Palmer, Miss Mary Hathaway and Miss Susan Kenney assisted in the serving.

Included in the wedding presents, besides a purse of money, were cut glass, silver, linen, china, and other furnishings.

Miss Rose is a graduate of Oneonta High school, class of 1920, Oneonta State Normal school, class of 1922, and for thirteen years had lived with her parents in Oneonta. She is a member of the Agonian sorority and of the Order Eastern Star.

The past year she taught in the Mitchell street school, and has a host of friends in this city.

Mr. Rose attended the school of Pine Hill, but for the past year has been employed by the D. & H. company in this city. He also has many friends in this city who will join friends at Pine Hill in congratulation.

Walter Whipple and I were fishing the Butternut and stopped at a farm house to get a drink. In a stream back of the house the farmer had a trout that probably weighed around three pounds. Walter tried to buy the trout from the farmer. He even offered as high as ten dollars. The farmer, however, had more advanced plans for that trout. He told us that he was going to keep it until it weighed four pounds and then sell it to some fisherman for twenty-five dollars. I cannot understand why Walter Whipple did not bring it in.

Very sincerely yours,

Wilbur H. Lynch.

YOUNG CHILD KILLED

Life Crushed Out of Emerson McCoy as Car Backs Over Walk.

Cobleskill, June 16. — Falling to hear the warning of the horn as a car was about to back into the street, Emerson McCoy, the two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William McCoy of Union street, Cobleskill, was knocked down and instantly killed by an auto on Tuesday morning, the car passing over his head and chest.

The fatality which came as a distinct shock to residents of the village occurred Tuesday morning in front of Helme's garage on Union street, just a few doors away from the McCoy home. Maurice J. Wieland of Howe had driven his newest sedan to the garage for some work. Although some children had been playing around the sidewalk and driveway to the garage, most of them had gone and he failed to notice the McCoy child when he backed out. Another man was at the gasoline tank and also did not notice the small boy standing in the rear of the Wieland car.

The first knowledge that the child had been struck came when Mrs. Minnie Salmon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Lawyer, from a house nearby saw the child prostrate on the concrete sidewalk. She called to the men around the garage and Dr. H. B. Bartholomew answered the hurry call but the child's life had passed on before his limp body was carried to his home. Death had resulted almost instantaneously, life having been crushed out by the weight of the car as the wheels passed over his chest. The boy also had received a fracture of the skull.

The funeral was held yesterday morning at the house, and burial was in the Cobleskill cemetery. No name appears to attach to the driver of the car.

Mr. Albert Chapman and son, Edward, and Mrs. William McCarran of this city left yesterday afternoon for Albany, where today they attend the funeral of Mrs. Chapman's sister-in-law, Mrs. Albert Johnson.

Miss Marion Cieslak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Cieslak of 14 Oneida street left by motor yesterday for Stroudsburg, Pa., where she will take the summer course in physical education at the Stroudsburg Normal school.

G. W. Williamson of the Normal faculty leaves this morning for Schenectady, where he will for a couple of days visit his mother before leaving for Oswego. He is to be one of the instructors at the summer school at the State Normal school in the latter city for the next six weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cross of North Adams, Mass., are visiting at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Woolhouse of 14 Maple street. While here they attended the graduation exercises of the Oneonta High school. Miss Ruth Woolhouse, sister of Mrs. Cross, was a member of the graduating class.

Factional comments on various platform issues were waved in the eyes of delegates to the Democratic Convention when a veritable gauntlet of sign bearers, in all sorts of gags, had to be run by persons attending. Convention fans bore a pacific slogan, "Law, Not War." Pickets carried signs reading "Law, Not Law" and "Outlaw War" signed by the "Bunk Peace Priests." Another picket was made up to resemble Wm. A Promise in Public and a Practice in Private!What Is Silicate of Soda?

SILICATE of Soda is a product made by the mixing together of sand, soda-ash and charcoal. When dissolved in water, the solution is known as "Water Glass."

It is extensively used in glass and, when used in soap, we consider it not only an absolute preservative, but harmful alike to hands and fabrics,

Kirkman's Soap is FREE from Silicate of Soda

YOU probably have seen and read this definite guarantee (reproduced above) which appeared recently in the daily papers.

Because thinking, intelligent women are asking "What is Silicate of Soda—why is it put in Soap?"—this message clearly states to our thousands of loyal housewife friends that Kirkman's is a pure, honest Soap—free from any and all adulteration—free from irritating lye to harm the hands or injure your fine and finest fabrics.

And because there can never be a substitute for purity—there can never be a substitute for Kirkman's—

Nor can you purchase a more economical soap—because you cannot find a more efficient soap.

WHATEVER name may be given to soap-mixtures, please remember always that the name "Kirkman"—yesterday—now—today—tomorrow—always—stands for the purest and best soap that 87 years of successful soap experience knows how to give you.

WILLIAM OTTEN ARRESTED.

Plant-Big Man Held for Liqueur Violation—May be Known in Oneonta.

The following dispatch from Plattsburgh may prove interesting to many residents of Oneonta as it tells of the arrest of William Otten, of 92 Bridge street, that city, charged with liquor violations. The young man is now out on bail of $1,000 for appearance in the federal court at Binghamton.

It is thought that Otten may be known in Oneonta, the second paragraph referring to a man of that name.

"Henry Sweeney of 72 North Catherine street, this city, while riding in an automobile with his fourteen-year-old daughter, was shot in the left side and his car and truck riddled with bullets, a mile north of the county line on the Beekmantown road. Sweeney stopped his car immediately and half a dozen federal agents swarmed aboard looking for booze. Sweeney's car was empty.

William Otten of 92 Bridge street, driving car loaded with thirty cases of beer close behind Sweeney, crashed into Sweeney's car, wrecking both machines. Otten was arraigned before Commissioner Patterson later in the day and was held in $1,000 bail for the federal court at Binghamton.

"Sweeney has placed the matter in the hands of an attorney to bring action against the government to recover damages.

THE WEATHER CONDITIONS.

With More Heat and Sufficient Rainfall Everything Booms.

Temperatures for the week were about normal, with adequate sunshine in most sections, says the Weather Bureau at Ithaca. Rainfall was generally sufficient, except over northern sections, where rain is much needed.

The weather for the week was very favorable for crop growth and farm work. Corn and potato planting continued, being nearly completed at the end of the week; some corn, in a few sections, was replanted. Beans are not all planted; early planted beans are reported as coming up well. Meadows, pastures, and grains improved and in most sections they are reported as fair to good. Potatoes on Long Island are making a good growth; truck crops on muck grounds made a fine growth during the week. Cutworms are causing considerable damage to gardens and field crops in some sections. Fruit conditions are good and strawberries are being marketed.

During the early morning of the 21st, severe thunderstorms occurred over most sections from Lake Erie to the Hudson valley. High winds did considerable damage to fruit and shade trees, houses, barns, and telephone poles; and lightning caused many fires.

We now have our last lot of pineapples. We also have some fine melons and we always guarantee to send you perfect ones. Call us up. Finigan's grocery, phone 528. advt 21

Now is the time for nice cool summer beverages. Let us bring you a case of ginger-ale, budweiser, sarsaparilla or Utica club. Palmer's grocery. advt 21

The house in the days of the stage coach was known as Wood's tavern, and the place as Wood's Corner. The main part of the building was built over 100 years ago.

Middleburgh will celebrate the Fourth of July in old fashioned form. All war veterans of Schoharie county have been invited to attend as guests of honor. The program will include a parade, ball game, athletic sports and an oration by State Senator William P. Bryne of Albany. There will be music by two bands and a drum corps.

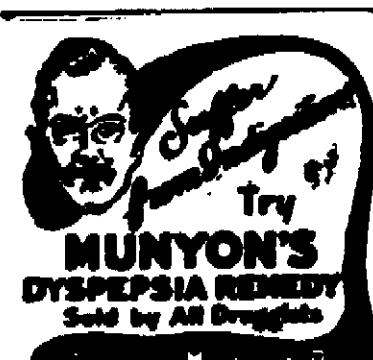

Mrs. E. A. Throop of Norwich lately received a box of carnations sent in commemoration of the 75th anniversary of the Universalist church at Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, which was held last Sunday. Mrs. Throop is the oldest living member of the church, and is 88 years of age.

The Worcester Improvement association has tendered to the D. & H. company the use of the town machinery for the purpose of improving the road around the station in that village. It will also support the band for the summer and probably purchase apparatus for the recreation grounds. There is also talk of construction of a swimming pool.

Lorenz Hohner of Walton Fined $25.

Lorenz Hohner of Walton was fined $25 by Justice F. A. Murdock at East End upon his arraignment by State Trooper Wallitt on a charge of reckless driving. The fine seemed to make a deep impression upon the man and it is not expected he will be an offender for some time.

Hobnee pulled out into the road in the path of Trooper Wallitt on his motorcycle and it was most fortunate that the trooper did not receive a bad fall.

Timepieces Are Given
Meet Rigorous Tests

Anyone may send his watch to the bureau of standards for a test to ascertain whether it qualifies as a timepiece of the highest grade, designated as "class A." This privilege is used chiefly by watch manufacturers, who are thereby enabled to furnish each tested timepiece with a government certificate.

To ascertain the accuracy of a timepiece it is placed in a large glass-fronted refrigerator, equipped with automatic devices that keep the temperature at a fixed point, in which the watch "runs" for stated periods at various degrees of heat and cold. When the regulator has been set, the flow of cold air from the ice chest above the watch chamber is controlled by a thermostatic device, and, when necessary, warm air is introduced from the outside. The three temperatures at which all watches undergoing the test are kept are 45, 70 and 95 degrees Fahrenheit.

To qualify in "class A" a watch must not vary more than four or five seconds from correct time, and, in addition, it must be able to repeat its performance in a variety of positions and under varying conditions. In all there are eleven specifications in the test, some of them involving technical calculations.

Any variance made by the watches under test from correct time is recorded by means of a chronograph.—Washington Star.

Not to Be Outdone

It has been said that there is no place in South Africa where some variety fruit will not grow and thrive. Apples, apricots, avocado pears, bananas, cherries, gooseberries, figs, grapefruit, lemons, limes, pineapples, plums, quinces, melons, olives, oranges and peaches are grown in the Union on a commercial scale.

One of the greatest advantages held by South Africa as a fruit exporting country is that, owing to its geographical position, its products reach the British market in the off season, and may also reach the United States. The trade has been remunerative despite heavy shipping.

"I hope you all have a very enjoyable spring vacation, and hope that when you come back you'll be in your right minds."

"Same to you," the children replied in unison.—Indianapolis News.

"It's tough to go through life known by your hat and your cigar," sighs Henry W. Dooley, national committeeman from Porto Rico to the Democratic convention. Dooley is constantly being mistaken for J. Ham Lewis because of his plinkish whiskers.

WAR VETERAN KILLS
WIFE AND HIMSELF*Apparently Crazed by Jealousy—
Lie in Woman's Arms
Unarmed

Johnstown, June 26.—Leonard Palantino, a veteran of the World war, apparently crazed by jealousy, fatally slashed the throat of his young wife, and immediately committed suicide here yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Palantino was talking with another woman on the porch of a store when her husband is said to have crossed the street and without warning drew a razor across her throat. As the mortally wounded woman fell, Palantino slightly slashed his own throat. He then ran to the rear of the store and cut his throat from ear to ear, severing the jugular vein.

Mr. Palantino had expired when physicians arrived and her husband was found a few minutes after the slaying. The victim of the assault was holding a 10-months-old baby in her arms when her husband attacked her, but the infant escaped harm.

Guard Against Poison

There are many schemes for marking poison bottles, but here is one of the safest and best. By the simple means of pasting a strip of sandpaper over the face of bottles containing poison, says Science and Invention, the danger of getting a bottle by mistake, even on account of darkness, is eliminated. Persons grasping the bottle will receive no discomfort, but will get sufficient warning as to its poisonous contents. Most of the body of the bottle should be covered with sandpaper. A small label designating the poison should be pasted somewhere above the sandpaper.

His Hard Luck

"Take a chance on a raffle, will ya?" asked the stranger.

"No, sir," replied Levi. "I never took but one chance on a raffle and I won that time."

"Well, if you are lucky, why don't you take another chance?" asked the stranger.

"Never will I take another chance on a raffle," announced Levi. "The time I took the chance a man rifled off a house, a lot, a horse, a wagon, a cow and a hog. And I won the hog!"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

WIFE'S VISIT TRAPS HUNTED KENTUCKIAN

Accused of Hiring Out to Shoot His Cousin.

Bardstown, Ky.—"I'm here in female," say the French. And because a woman talked too much Kelly Howard, thirty, mountain-festid, has been tracked to this bluegrass country and captured.

The capture caused echoes to sound concerning a fatal shooting on a lonely creek bed in the isolated section of Floyd county one day last January, when, it was claimed, Howard shot to death his first cousin and one-time best friend, Morgan Shepherd, thirty-five. Howard was going under the name of Kelly Arnett when caught.

Howard was arrested at a small house on the farm of his brother, Reuben Howard, near Beaufort, this country. Howard had been working with his brother after fleeing the mountains. He was sitting at a window when he saw two Floyd county officials approaching. Howard had known both men for years and he knew his arrest impending. So, without arguing with them, he ran. The officer saw Howard, however, and when he did not heed their demands for surrender, they opened fire. Then Howard gave up.

Aftermath of Party.

According to Jerry and T. C. Allen, the Floyd county officers, the mountain murderer was the aftermath of a robust family party back in the hills, during which a woman, Mrs. Moors Allen, was shot to death. Shepherd, the man attorney killed by Howard, was the last survivor of the man's killing, but had been granted a new trial.

According to the officers, the community charges that others who were suspected in the killing, afraid Shepherd would go free, hired Howard, said to be a "dead shot," to kill the accused man. One day in January, while Shepherd and a neighbor, David Wilson, were riding a mule along a mountain trail in a creek bed, with Howard and Bruce Shepherd, a brother to the man later slain, on another mule, Howard drew his pistol and shot Shepherd from the lead animal.

While in jail here awaiting transportation back to Floyd county the prisoner declared the shooting was an accident.

Wife Disclosed Retreat.

The location of the escaped man was learned by the mountain officers when Howard's wife paid him a visit and when a friend "talked too much" to another. The Floyd county authorities expressed apprehension as to the possibility of getting their prisoner home safely. Jerry Allen, the younger of the two officers, exhibited his back, in which he said 157 shot entered three weeks ago when he was waylaid while riding through the mountains. An assassin had hidden in an ambush near the trail and "opened up" on the young officer as he rode past. Allen, however, said the attempt on his life must have been made "in fun."

Howard, of course, was in this country when the attack was made, but he had many relatives and friends in the mountains who may have known Allen was about to come here after the alleged slayer. However, there is nothing to attach suspicion to any of these people, and as Allen has been active against various forms of law-breaking others may have felt the need of removing him. He expressed no fear of going back to the hills, where he has the reputation of being a "go-getter."

Leaves Finance Rich
New Orleans.—A negro romance was revealed here when Mrs. S. S. Dupre received a check for $20,000, as a part of the legacy of Dr. E. H. Brown, negro doctor of Louisville, Ky., to whom the woman was to have been married last December. The death of Brown blasted the romance. Brown also is said to have left to her a residence valued at $15,000 in Louisville and she will soon go there to claim the estate.

Rural Girls Beat

Athletic proficiency in sports during the last few years has been particularly marked among the girl students generally, said the director.

Seasick Baboons Egg

Boy in Steamer's Hold

New York.—Heinrich Renke, galler boy on the United States liner America, which docked with 995 passengers, has washed the egg stains from his clothes and person and lost his currency about baboons.

Two baboons, two baby elephants, two zebras, several swans and 8,000 canaries were quartered in the hold of the America in care of Joseph Warnecke, who plans to sell them in this country. When the weather became rough the baboons became irritated. Ship employees were warned to stay away from them.

Renke, sent to the hold for two baskets of eggs, was too curious, however. He put down one of the baskets within reach of the baboons' cage while he enjoyed a glimpse of the marine zoo. When one of the baboons picked up the basket Renke tried to take it away from him. Whereupon the animal began throwing the eggs. His mate helped.

Renke was covered with the eggs. The walls and ceiling were splashed.

U. S. to Serve Reindeer Meat on Alaska Trains

Seattle, Wash.—Between 60,000 and 70,000 pounds of reindeer meat soon will be purchased by the government to be served in the dining cars of the Alaska railroad, according to word received by the Seattle Chamber of Commerce. This was said to be the first time that a large market for reindeer meat has been created within Alaska.

A FAIR CONTROVERSY

Residents Along the Walton-Delhi Branch and O. & W. Company Seen Near Settlement

BUS OR TRAIN SERVICE

Hearing Held at Sidney Yesterday by Commissioner Coven of Public Service Commission Regarding Re-establishment of Passenger Service on Branch Road Shows Fair Attitude on Part of Both Parties

Fair mindedness on the part of both the residents along the Walton-Delhi branch of the New York, Ontario and Western Railroad company and the officials of that company in regard to the re-establishment of passenger service on that branch of the road characterized the hearing held at Sidney yesterday by Commissioner Coven of the Public Service Commission. While little definite headway was made yesterday, still the statement developed there should go far in the matter of smoothing the way to the final session which it is hoped can be held soon.

Citizens of Delhi, Hamden, Delaney and Frasers, headed by Congressman John D. Clarke, who had found time during his summer vacation to give a large amount of personal consideration and effort to the proposition, and Vice President and General Manager Neale and Chairman C. L. Andrus of Stamford ton the company were largely informed in the presentation of their views of the necessity of passenger service on the branch and the hearing was adjourned subject to the call of the commission, which will be given upon the application of both parties.

The fact, however, seemed to be agreed upon; namely that both bus and train service could not be supported or expected. Speedy action on this petition is particularly desired since Mr. Green of Delhi now has before the commission an application for a bus line between Walton and Delhi.

The hearing before the commission was occasioned by a petition signed by 414 residents of Delhi who requested that the company be restrained from discontinuing the passenger service on the Walton-Delhi branch. Although it was at first planned to discontinue on April 27, the company continued the passenger accommodations until Monday last.

The service which was now being provided for transportation along the line served by the railroad was first considered by Commissioner Coven. It developed that the bus service now being given made practically all Walton connections from Delhi, five in number, whereas the train schedule made only three.

Express service will continue to be given by the railroad company as had been done in the past.

Mail arrangements are to be completed, and Mr. Neale for the company said that he felt through the cooperation of the postal department even quicker routes for mail could be worked out.

The company plans to abandon its passenger stations, and to save about $700 a month, which it claims is lost in the accommodation of passengers, the additional expense being $1,326 and the revenue being only $630 per month. These figures were for the month of 1923, which all agreed was an average month.

Congressman Clarke Leads Protest.
Congressman John D. Clarke of Frasers was chairman of the delegation of citizens opposing the removal of the passenger service at the hearing. The delegation included W. T. Black, Frank Thompson and Wilber Oles of Delhi, M. S. Crawford, John Chambers, W. L. Hulbert and Harry Eckhart of Hamden, Stanley Holmes and Mr. Newkirk of Delaney, and Harry Frasers and Congressman Clarke of Frasers.

Congressman Clarke, in outlining the position of his committee, said that they did not feel that they were asking anything unreasonable of the railroad, and that they would appreciate any information as to injustice which might be furnished them. He asked for a copy of the minutes of the hearing so that a reply might be drawn up for the territory served by the branch.

After a little discussion of the various phases of the service it seemed that the railroad service was preferred by a large number of the citizens of the various towns along the line of the branch, particularly because there were no shelters for those waiting for the trains.

A number of objections were raised by the men, but it was shown by an analysis of the facts that most of the would be passed out with the exception of the delegation of the arrangement now under way with the exception of the bus service for the passengers.

Price on the bus was slightly higher than for those running on the line of the road, the reason being the distance to be traveled due to the fact that the stops were distributed over the distance.

Opposition of the railroad in the suspension of the railroad in whether the service for the carrying out of the schedule of the bus met with considerable opposition, and it was said that even though the delayed passenger service were performed a different position would be taken by the company of residents.

COMPANY G TO CAMP

Local Militiamen to Leave Sunday Morning for Two Weeks Tour of Field Duty at Peekskill.

The officers and members of Company G, Tenth regiment, N. Y. N. G., are making final arrangements for the annual field duty, scheduled to begin at Peekskill on June 29. The company is scheduled to leave Oneonta on a special train, which will carry Company E of Walton and Companies F and H and the Headquarters company of Binghamton. The tour will be held en route and the men will arrive at camp in the early afternoon.

Captain Louis M. Baker will take his full complement of officers and about 70 men to camp. Extensive preparations have been under way for some time and all is in readiness for the start. The company will have two weeks of active field duty at the camp.

Major General Charles W. Berry, commander of the New York National Guard, has issued an order for a complete outline of the training to be undertaken at the camp. The men will rise at 6:15 o'clock and from that time until "taps" at 10:30 o'clock will be engaged in training activities, including various athletic contests. In the practice of shooting, the rifle range at Peekskill is said to be one of the best in the world and provides ample accommodation for two full regiments at one time. The purchase of 1,500 additional acres of ground for the camp made this a bargain.

The range has 167 targets now in place of the original 42 targets and is to be increased to 200. There is also a machine gun range, which will be used by Company H of Binghamton, and a pistol range with 50 targets, as well as a special place for practice with one pound guns and howitzers.

Permanent mess halls and kitchens have been erected in conjunction with each company street, and every man will have a special bunk and place to eat during the time he is there. The Y. M. C. A. at the camp has been moved to a larger building, and will accommodate all who stand. There will also be a rest room for women visitors. A swimming pool is a new feature. Other new equipment has been installed for athletics, and much time will be spent in inter-company contests.

MANY MOTORISTS CAUGHT

Many Policies Held Here in World Mutual Casualty Company, Now Taken over by State Insurance Department.

Many automobile owners in Oneonta, and in Otsego and Delaware counties who have liability insurance policies will learn with dismay that instead of an asset their policy is quite likely to prove a liability.

It is stated that since the company is a mutual concern the policy holders are liable to assessments of not to exceed 200 per cent of their premiums. It is also understood that any person who has held a policy in the company within the past year, whether such policy still be in force or not, is also liable.

The following New York dispatch will doubtless prove of interest to many:

"Supreme Court Justice Platsek has directed Francis R. Stoddard, state superintendent of insurance, to take possession of the World Mutual Casualty Co., because the directors had failed to file the required charter as directed. The company consented to dissolution."

The company was organized by Alderman William F. Quinn, Republican leader, to insure taxicabs when the new law requiring taxicab insurance was passed a few years ago. He was president and E. S. Quinn was secretary and treasurer. The firm of Quinn & Quinn had a contract as sole agent for the company to continue until 1924. The company's assets were reported on May 14 at $204,999 and liabilities of $425,746. The company was then directed to make up the deficiency of $220,750."

Robert Marshall at the Otesaga.

Robert Marshall, son of City Clerk and Mrs. Robert O. Marshall of this city, a sophomore at Cornell university, where he is taking the new course in hotel management, is for the summer stationed at the Otesaga hotel in Cooperstown.

Residents of this vicinity will find a stop at the hotel even more enjoyable due to his presence at the desk.
